Do You Think You're Old?

We continuously struggle with what to call ourselves, seniors, older adults, old people? Here's an interesting article from the "Washington Post. https://www.washingtonpost.com/opinions/in-search-of-a-word-that-wont-offend-old-people/2017/12/29/76640346-b808-11e7-a908-a3470754bbb9_story.html?noredirect=on&utm_term=.ee3f435b1ec6

Capital City Villagers Go Downtown for Austin Library Tour

~ LK Keeling, CCV Member

Staying current, a group of the "village people" toured the new 200,000 square feet Central Library. (A portion of the CCV group is pictured above.) The modern, imposing building offers many architectural delights, a work of art. An inviting roof top garden deck, overlooking Shoal Creek and Lady Bird Lake, makes perfect space to hang out, read, study and marvel at the gorgeous view. Inside, natural lighting, spacious areas, reading porches and comfy, comfortable furniture brightens one's spirit.

By the numbers: 589 seats, 140 public use PC & Mac computers, one clever gift shop, 6 floors and 14 shared "learning rooms" (designed for classes, workshops, meetings and & co-working). The number of books, videos & magazines is both overwhelming & impressive. Guess maximum number of books a book lover is allowed to check out at a time? 50! That's not a typo.

Quoting Dr. Seuss: "The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more that you know, the more places you'll go."
